

RHODE ISLAND ETHICS COMMISSION
Staff Attorney IV (Education Coordinator)

The Rhode Island Ethics Commission is seeking a full-time Staff Attorney who will also act as the Commission's Education Coordinator. The successful applicant will coordinate and present live ethics trainings and seminars across the state to groups of public officials, create online training modules, and draft training materials. He or she will also be involved in the general legal work performed by the Commission's staff attorneys including, but not limited to: drafting and presenting advisory opinions, memoranda and research projects; assisting in the regulatory process; administering financial disclosure; and prosecuting ethics complaints.

The Commission seeks an attorney who is a member in good standing of the Rhode Island bar who is a strong public speaker and a superior legal writer with demonstrated experience in education/training, municipal or administrative law, litigation and/or public administration. The successful applicant must also be a person who is guided by, and committed to, principles of honesty and integrity.
